Welcome to Renville County

Welcome to Renville County, Minnesota, a hidden gem in west central Minnesota, approximately 90 miles west of Minneapolis and St. Paul. This rural county, with a population of just under 15,000, offers a delightful blend of small-town warmth, rich history, and natural beauty, making it an ideal destination for visitors seeking authentic experiences and scenic adventures.

Agricultural heritage

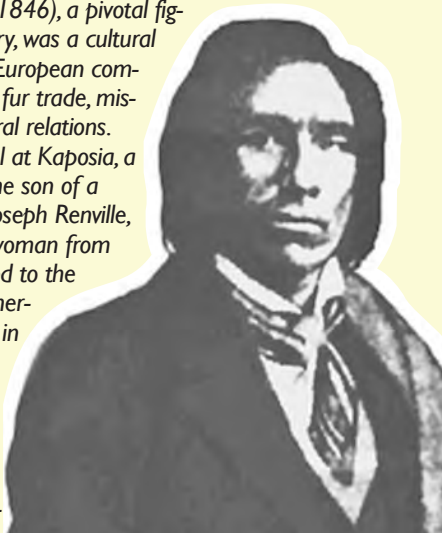

Renville County's agricultural heritage is a defining feature, earning it the nickname "Corn Capital of the World," particularly in Olivia, the county seat. The county has been a pioneer in agricultural innovation since the establishment of some of the nation's first crop and animal cooperatives. It is home to multiple seed crop breeding and production companies, with farmers utilizing cutting-edge technology for smarter, sustainable production. Olivia, located on Highway 212, part of the original Yellowstone Trail, sits in the heart of the richest agricultural county in Minnesota, with one of the highest concentration of seed research and processing companies globally. The county's agricultural economy is further evidenced by its focus on diversifying commerce while maintaining its agricultural leadership, with strong corn markets boosting farmland values.

Seven County Parks

Nature lovers will find Renville County's seven county parks, spanning over 1,300 acres, a haven for outdoor exploration, largely on the southern portion of the county. These parks feature primitive stands of trees, wildflowers, native prairies, wildlife, and unique bedrock outcroppings along the Minnesota River. Notable parks in-

Our namesake: Joseph Renville

Joseph Renville, Jr. (1779–1846), a pivotal figure in Minnesota's early history, was a cultural bridge between Dakota and European communities, shaping the region's fur trade, missionary efforts, and intercultural relations. Born near present-day St. Paul at Kaposia, a Dakota village, Renville was the son of a French-Canadian fur trader, Joseph Renville, Sr., and Miniyuhe, a Dakota woman from the Mdewakanton band, linked to the Little Crow family. His mixed heritage and multilingual fluency in Dakota, French, and English positioned him as a vital intermediary in a rapidly changing frontier. He is the first individual of European heritage to be born in the territory that would become Minnesota.

Joseph Renville

Raised among the Dakota until age ten, Renville was then educated in Canada under a Catholic priest, gaining knowledge of French and Christian teachings. Returning to Minnesota as a youth, he leveraged his skills as an interpreter and guide, notably assisting Zebulon Pike in 1805–1806 and Stephen Long in 1823. During the War of 1812, Renville served as a captain in the British army, leading Dakota warriors, a testament to his influence among the Sioux. His marriage to a Dakota woman from the Little Crow family further solidified his ties to the Sioux, and together they raised eight children, fostering literacy in both Dakota and English.

In 1822, Renville co-founded the Columbia Fur Company, which he led until it was acquired by the American Fur Company in 1827. Prior to becoming the state's first governor, the American Fur Trade Company would operate by Henry Sibley, at present day Fort Snelling, or Mendota, which has great cultural significance to the Dakota. Settling at Lac qui Parle in 1826, Renville established a fortified trading post, Fort Renville, and organized a soldiers' lodge to manage hunts and protect the community. His trading success stemmed from his deep understanding of both European and Dakota cultures, making him a trusted figure among traders, settlers, and Native peoples.

A devout Catholic, Renville invited missionaries to Lac qui Parle in 1835, collaborating with Rev. Thomas Williamson and others to translate the Bible and hymns into Dakota, including the influential Dakota Dowanpi Kin (1842). His efforts preserved Dakota language and culture while introducing Christianity, strengthening ties between communities. Renville's hospitality was renowned, offering refuge to travelers like explorer Joseph Nicollet, who praised his influence over the Dakota.

Renville's legacy endures in Renville County and the city of Renville, named in his honor, as well as in the historic Lac qui Parle Mission. Until his death in 1846 from influenza, he remained a respected leader, fur trader, and cultural mediator, leaving an indelible mark on Minnesota's history.

clude Beaver Falls, Birch Coulee, Skalbekken, Mack Lake, Lake Allie, and Vicksburg, each offering opportunities for hiking, camping, picnicking, and wildlife watching.

Day visits are free, with small fees for overnight camping, and winter activities like snowshoeing and cross-country skiing are available on groomed trails, such as 1.5

miles in Skalbekken and 2 miles in Beaver Falls (Renville County Parks). The parks are nestled along the Minnesota River Valley Scenic Byway, providing access to historic sites and breathtaking views of steep-wooded bluffs.

Historic & Scenic Byways

Renville County's connections to historic and scenic byways enhance its appeal for visitors. The Yellowstone Trail, a historic auto route running from Plymouth Rock to Puget Sound, passes through the northern portion of the county along U.S. Highway 212. Museum, antiques, boutiques and other unique retail destinations offer authentic destinations along its course.

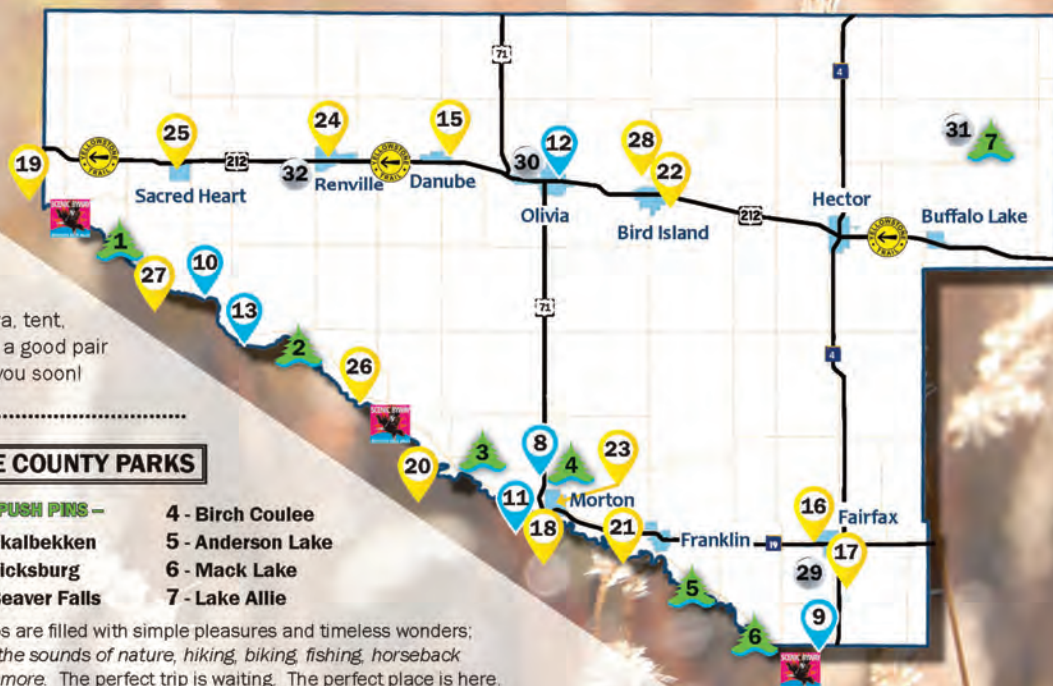

The same can be said for the Minnesota River Scenic Byway, however a more scenic drive awaits travellers along the Minnesota River Valley. There historic sites often look back further in the historic timeframe, where the delve into the story of the Native American Dakota communities. At any rate, opportunities to observe the region's natural and cultural heritage are rich.

Hospitals and schools

The award winning Olivia Hospital & Clinics is the gem of the county's medical offerings. The primary hospital is located in Olivia with a new clinic in Renville set to break ground in 2025. New day-care offerings and senior housing are top priorities, with the Island Living senior residences opening in 2024 in Bird Island and a new daycare center coming soon in Renville. Area School Districts long Highway 212 include Buffalo Lake-Hector-Stewart (BLHS) in Hector, Bird Island-Olivia-Lake Lilian-Danube (BOLD) in Olivia and Renville County West (RCW) in Renville. Additionally, faith-centered education is available at St. Mary's School in Bird Island. On the southern portion of the county Gibbon-Fairfax-Winthrop School District, is located Gibbon, while faith-based Prairie Lutheran School is in Fairfax. Cedar Mountain Elementary School is located in Franklin.

MORE THAN EXPECTED!

The Historic Yellowstone Trail

Initiated in 1912 by a small group of businessmen from Ipswich, South Dakota, the Yellowstone Trail would emerge as the first transcontinental auto route, stretching 3,600 miles from Plymouth Rock, Massachusetts to Puget Sound, Washington.

Other coast-to-coast highway initiatives at the time included the Jefferson and Lincoln Highway Associations. But the Yellowstone Trail Association (YTA) set itself apart as the only grassroots effort—relying on the commitment and efforts of the communities along the trails path in order to make its rapid progress. Before such efforts existed, there were no connected long-distance roads. The existing local roads were mostly just dirt and routes had no numbers. Government ignored the situation, choosing instead to promote the railroads, thereby motivating people to join together in private trail groups like the Yellowstone Trail Association to push forward the collective vision. The YTA pressured county governments to connect with the road of the next county, thus succeeding in creating the historic route.

The original YTA disbanded in the 30s upon the onset of the federal highway system. However, over the past two decades the organization has reformed to celebrate the heritage of the trail and its communities seeking to revitalize the brand and again invite cooperative trail efforts.

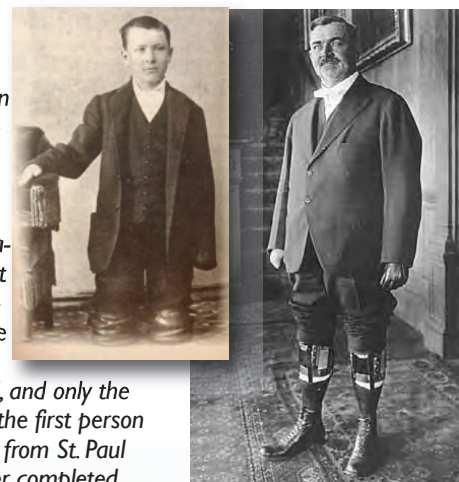

The communities who accomplished the original feat vied to be part of the cooperative effort that is the Yellowstone Trail. That spirit remains in each YT community and can be observed in the stories of community's and their champions as they have slowly unfurled and availed themselves over the course of a century.

Renville County has a special connection to the trail through Minnesota legend and trail champion Michael J. Dowling. Serving as the first president of the YTA after its founder, Joseph Parmley, Dowling is perceived as perhaps its greatest champion. He resided and made great impacts in both Renville County communities of Renville and Olivia, where his legacy continues to be promoted with an exhibit at the Historical Museum in Renville and dedicated plaza space with mural and plaque.

The incredible Michael J. Dowling

When Michael Dowling died in 1921, it mattered to the thousands who came to pay their respects and it mattered to the Yellowstone Trail Association (YTA), as he had been a recent and robust Association president from 1917-1919. During his life Dowling had also served as a teacher, banker, auto salesman, mayor, realtor, newspaper editor, Great Lakes and St. Lawrence tidewater commissioner, inspirational speaker to wounded World War I vets, congressional and gubernatorial candidate, Speaker of the Minnesota Legislature and friend of U.S. Presidents. Additionally, he led the first legislative effort to provide state aid to children with disabilities and founded a school in Minneapolis for physically handicap children. These accomplishments were all the more amazing seeing how he achieved them as a multiple amputee, having lost his limbs to frostbite. He had two wooden legs, a wooden arm and hand, and only the nub of a thumb on the other hand. Nevertheless, in 1903, Dowling became the first person in Renville County to own a car, and in 1913 he led a three car motorcade from St. Paul to Yellowstone Park to effectively blaze the Yellowstone Trail. He later completed the final eastern portion of the route, running from Buffalo, New York to Plymouth Rock, Massachusetts.

The city and county of Renville were named for Joseph Renville, an incredible man of French and Dakota descent. Renville is an industrious ag community and home of the Southern Minnesota Beet Sugar Cooperative, one of the largest cooperatives in the world. At present, Forsman Farms is set to open a new state-of-the-art egg laying facility on the eastern outskirts of city limits. In the vicinity, are the beginning's of an even more groundbreaking company, CelluComp, which is just beginning to set up operations. Main Street Renville stays active with a variety of businesses and restaurants, including Main Street Bar & Grill and Dave's Place. Also complementing the downtown area is the Renville History Museum, Community Center and newly opened Friends of the Arts Center. Local school, Renville County West, is also located in town, offering a premiere education for students, Kindergarten through 12th grade.

Vickburg County Park is located south along the Minnesota River Valley.

Danube

Danube is a small town with a big heart, located 5 miles west of the county seat, Olivia, on US Highway 212, and along the railroad tracks that serve TC&W rail line. The population is about 500 residents. Every summer, the second week of July sees an influx of people celebrating Danube's Fun Days with a homemade ice cream social, parade, volleyball tournament, street dance and other fun activities for families. The park has been newly renovated as a destination playground for children with disabilities, and a dedicated group of young Danube residents maintains an ice hockey rink in the winter months. Danube is part of the Renville County West school district, and the football and softball fields for RCW are located in Danube. Danube has well-maintained homes, with a growing population of young families. Affordable housing, and an opportunity to be a part of positive progress present the community as an attractive community for residents and visitors alike.

Olivia

Patina Pickers in Olivia boasts 15,000 sq. feet of antiques from 40 vendors.

Olivia, the Corn Capital of Minnesota, sits in the heart of the richest agricultural county in the state where it is a world leader in agricultural innovation. Continuing in that tradition is the expansion of a state-of-the-art Beck's Hybrids Seed facility now under construction. Olivia is the county seat of Renville County and a focal point of the historic Yellowstone Trail, as residence and burial place of Minnesota legend and trail champion, Michael J. Dowling. Olivia features the historic Renville County Courthouse and adjacent Government Center as well as the award-winning Olivia Hospital & Clinics. A burgeoning retail district offers opportunities to find unique antiques and gifts in downtown Olivia, or bring the kids and have some fun at the Olivia CornCade. Everyone also makes sure to stop at the Corn Monument and Memorial site. The monument is located in Memorial Park, which is one of eight total parks within city limits and the lone available for camping. An emerging trail system, connects the newly renovated BOLD School District and City Hall. Additionally, the city welcomed new pickleball courts and a Community Center.

Hector

Hector was founded in 1878 when the Hastings and Dakota Railway Company constructed the railroad on the north side of the original town site. The village was named after the township of Hector, which had been organized in June 1874. It was originally named Milford, but the name was changed when it was learned there was already another Milford in Minnesota. There was heated debate between those who favored the name Plainfield (after the stage stop and post office) and those who favored the name Hector, a township in New York on the east shore of Seneca Lake where many of the early settlers came from. Hector, New York, was named after the bravest of the ancient Trojan warriors whose story is told in Homer's "Iliad". (Later research showed the other Milford was actually in South Dakota, so the town could have been named Milford after all.) Hector has a strong connection to its heritage as exemplified by its strong Yellowstone Trail and the Hector Historical Center. It's Lion's Fly-in Breakfast held in September is also the state's longest running fly-in.

Pete's Grill in downtown Hector has been a local favorite for many years.

Beaver Falls Recreation Area

More than just Camping } Renville County Parks

Join us for unexpected adventures!

In Renville County Parks, camping and outdoor adventure trips are filled with simple pleasures and timeless wonders; sleeping under the stars, waking to the sounds of nature, hiking, biking, fishing, horseback riding, canoeing, snowshoeing, and more.

HIKING AND BIKING: Miles of trails give hikers and bikers of all ages and skill levels the chance to explore the road less traveled. Ranging from “beginner” to “difficult,” the trails meander through the pristine woodlands of the Renville County Parks and along the beautiful Minnesota River. Many trails offer trail name and directional signage, with printed trail maps available on park kiosks and online.

HORSEBACK RIDING: Fun for the whole family! Saddle up and ride the beautiful trails and roads in Beaver Falls and Skalbekken.

CAMPING: From intimate valleys deep in the woods to a public campground with parking and water, we’ve got your ideal spot under the stars.

FISHING: Multiple public locations provide beginners and experts alike material for their next whopper of a fish tale! The river contains over 70 species of fish.

ANDERSON LAKE

Anderson Lake County Park is a day use only park, and its principle feature is shoreline fishing. During times of high water, the park is subject to flooding.

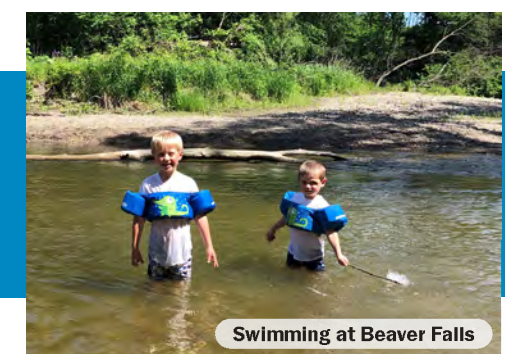

Anderson Lake

BEAVER FALLS

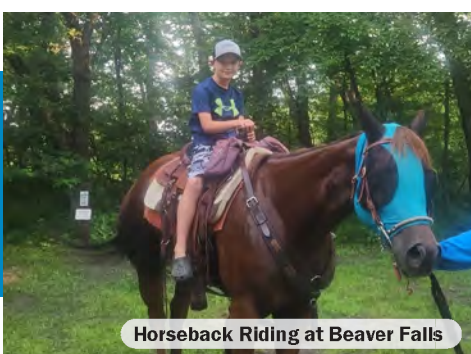

Beaver Falls County Park is divided into two parts: the horse camp and the recreation area.

The horse camp features wooded ravines, horse ties, manure bunkers and Beaver Creek. The upper half features the Beaver Creek Recreational Area. Both areas consist of shelters, restrooms, water (hand pump), fire pits and ample multi-use trails for hiking, biking and horseback riding.

Beaver Creek was formed with the Minnesota River Valley and carved into the landscape by the massive Glacial River Warren. This glacial river occurred with the collapse of Lake Agassiz somewhere between 11,700 and 9,400 BC. The old town of Beaver Falls once boasted a population of 500 people. It was the seat of Renville County from 1860-1900. Remnants of some of the buildings remain next to the creek.

VICKSBURG

Vicksburg County Park offers a shelter, water (hand pump), restrooms, rustic camping and picnic areas.

The river is great for fishing, as well as canoeing and playing on the sandbar. The park features ancient granite and gneiss outcrops, a large sandbar, and oxbow ponds.

Thanks to the outcrops, Vicksburg is home to the Five Lined Skink, many other reptiles, and Juniper Hairstreak Butterflies.

Minnesota River View at Skalbekken

Snowshoeing at Skalbekken

Vicksburg was named after a town that was nearby from 1860 until 1905. The park was home to the county's first businesses: a trading post by French fur traders back in 1783, a fur trading post in 1833 run by Joseph Renville, and a freight-line company from the mid-1800s.

Located on Renville County 15, south of Sacred Heart. The Schwandt Memorial Monument was erected on August 18, 1915, near the spot where the Johan Schwandt family died during the U.S.-Dakota War of 1862. It was built in memory of the six Schwandt family members and two of their friends who died on August 18, 1862. Two of the Schwandt children survived. The daughter, Mary, was taken captive, but was protected by a Dakota woman, Snana Win. This powerful story is memorialized today with an interpretive panel onsite.

Morton Monuments

Upon the bluff, just east of Morton, stand two granite markers memorializing the U.S.-Dakota War of 1862. They are not on the battlefield, but were instead placed on the old Renville County Fairgrounds in the 1890s. In 1894 an obelisk was erected "in grateful remembrance of the heroism of those gallant soldiers and citizens who fought the Battle of Birch Coulee." The second obelisk was erected in 1899 and is referred to as "The Faithful Indians Monument" to commemorate the Dakota that saved the lives of Euro American settlers. Six names are listed on the monument. The road leading to the monuments may need to be walked instead of driven depending on the current road conditions.

Birch Coulee Battlefield State Historic Site

Two miles north of Morton on US Highway 71, then east on Renville County Road 2. On September 22, 1862 an advance party of 150 soldiers was surprised and attacked at this site by Dakota akicita during the U.S.-Dakota War of 1862. The battle went on for 36 hours with heavy U.S. casualties. Visitors can walk a self-guided trail through recreated prairie and read about the battle from the perspectives of Joseph Anderson, a captain in the U.S. Army, and Wamditawjka (Big Eagle), a Bdewakaw-tuwaw soldier. Sketches from soldier Albert Colgrave provide vivid battle details. If you're looking for history, gaming opportunities and a plethora of outdoor experiences—Morton is the place. Situated upon the Minnesota Scenic Byway, Morton is the home of the Renville County Museum campus where it is a repository for an impressive number of historical artifacts and gift items. In downtown Morton, Dakota Wicohan exists to revitalize the Dakota language and culture, with Lower Sioux Community and the Jackpot Junction Casino and Wacipi grounds just a stones throw away. Beaver Falls and Birch Coulee County Parks offer first class outdoor experiences with a number of amenities and camping opportunities while Interpretive trails at the Birch Coulee Battlefield allow reflections on the U.S. Dakota War. Morton is famous for its 3.5 million year old granite outcrops. The granite has been quarried as a component of a number of high profile architectural projects, including on the grounds of Whitehouse where they serve as 55 ton fountains that frame historic home.

The City of Morton is known for its gneiss outcrops.

Franklin

Welcome to the City of Franklin, Minnesota's Catfish Capital! Franklin is located on State Highway 19 overlooking the beautiful Minnesota River Valley Scenic Byway. The area businesses and residents are known for their friendliness. A great time to visit is during Franklin's annual Catfish Derby Days, held the 4th weekend in July. However, any time is a good time with the opportunity to explore the outdoors and access the river via the Cedar Mountain Science and Natural Area and Boat Landing Park. The park features river access, a picnic area and shelter as well as campsites, public restrooms, shower and electricity. For those interested in our story, head over to the Franklin Depot Railroad Museum.

The Longbranch Saloon has a draw that is well beyond the Franklin area.

The Corn Capital of Minnesota

The Corn Monument in Memorial Park is the largest in the state.

In 1973 the Village of Olivia authorized the preparation of a new 'roadside' park adjacent to U.S. Hwy 71, immediately west side of Olivia. Purpose was for the erection of a Giant Ear of Corn monument to show the world that Olivia is indeed the Corn Capital of Minnesota. In fact it was officially designated as such by the Minnesota State Legislature in 1993.

Why such preponderant claims?

Renville County with Olivia as the County Seat, perennially is the top producing corn county in Minnesota; and often ranks in the top five counties nationally.

This ear of corn statue is a 25 foot fiberglass monster weighing approximately 3,500 pounds. Supported by an 18-inch diameter and 30 foot steel pipe, the Ear stands 75 feet tall with a 25 foot diameter wood and steel base structure with four walls...each displaying information about the statue and why Renville County is the number one corn producing county in the state of Minnesota; and reliably also one of the top five counties in the United States in corn production.

Why the 75 feet of height? Because the city of Rochester had at that time a 70 foot tall statue depicting a huge ear of corn. And if Olivia was to live up to its claim as the number one corn production county in Minnesota it certainly seemed necessary to have the tallest ear of corn also.

The City of Olivia provided water service, shrubbery, grass, picnic tables and lighting for the display.

So how did the Ear of Corn come into being? Because of a seed company called Trojan Seed which started in 1948 by Henry Rauenhurst Sr, a long-time corn producer in Renville County. Early in the 1970s Trojan Seed had become the number three ranking seed company in Minnesota in terms of number of bags of seed corn sold. With the aggressive leadership of Bob Rauenhurst, Trojan Seed soon became number eight in the nation. So with this incredible leap into America's corn industry, it was only logical that Trojan Seed notified the world of this accomplishment. And what better than the 'world's' largest ear of corn prominently displayed along U.S. Highway 71, a very busy north/south highway leading to the Canadian border.

At one point in time during the 1980s, Olivia could claim 13 different seed companies had a presence in the town of Olivia. Three were actually into seed production: Trojan Seed; Keltgen Seed; and Thurston Seed. Today, the town continues to be a major seed processing center with soybean now about equaling seed corn in seed processing, warehousing and marketing.

Beck's Hybrid Seeds is underway on a new state-of-the-art facility in Olivia, the Corn Capital.

A family of four is shown in a playful, affectionate pose against a solid blue background. A man with a beard and short dark hair is lying on his back, holding a young girl in a black shirt and white pants. A woman with curly hair is leaning over him, holding another young girl in a striped shirt. The family is smiling and looking at each other, creating a warm and happy atmosphere.
